Follow the paper star

Follow the paper star. Which picture happened first? Which one comes next?

A. The star hangs above the doors.

B. Ada carries the star by its string.

C. Ada threads the string through the star.

Make the instructions easier to use

You’re helping at a screening. Pick up the programmes at the box office, put a stack by the door, then bring the spare copies back. How would you keep track of the three jobs? Try sketching them, recording them or writing a few words for each step.

Last

Which happened first?

Look at the three pictures. Put them in the order the events happened. You can point, say the order aloud or write the letters. What detail helped you decide?

A. The envelope is sealed.

B. The note goes into the open envelope.

C. Someone writes the note.

Find the words to ask

“Can you read me the first part? I’ll tell you when I’m ready for the next bit.”

Imagine someone has handed you a page of instructions just before an activity. What could you ask them for? Say it, write it or record it. You can use a made-up situation.

How I could ask

Talk about the adventure

Why did Leila ask Joss to read the card one place at a time?

Which detail in the pictures mattered more than the numbers on the backs?

Why do you think Ada wanted to start her interview by talking about the star?
